

Dennis Selfridge — Lousy Wizard

Chords: D A G Em(7) A(sus)7

This riff is just a D chord with a walk down the base line to A7 and then from G another walk down from the base line to Em7 and Asus4. There aren't really "official" chords, it's just an ear thing. Try the alternate A7 just removing your finger from the G string.

Verse I

D                    D/C#      Em            A7
The children grow older, the lows a little sadder
G                    G/F#            Em7      Asus4
We take some more for granted but darlin' remember
D                    D/C#            Em7            A7
When hopes were as bright as the candles we'd light
G                    G/F#            Em7      Asus4
Now we know better, I can't always deliver

Chorus I

Bm            A                    G      A
I'm not a bad man, I'm just a lousy wizard
Bm            A                    G            A
Could be that your expectations just a bit too high
Bm            A                    G      A
There's much more to living than we can consider
Bm            A                    G            D (Walk down)
I'd rather be an honest failure than some jerk who got it right...

Verse II

D                    D/C#            Em            A7
I'm the first one to listen and the first one to heed
G                    G/F#            Em7            Asus7
Still, there's sometimes I don't know what we need
D                    D/C#            Em            A7
We could pick it up here or maybe dress things up there
G                    G/F#            Em7      Asus7
But there's never been a moment that I didn't care

Chorus II

Bm          A                  G    A
I'm not a bad man, I'm just a lousy wizard
Bm                  A                  G                  A
Could be that your expectations just a bit too high
Bm                  A                  G    A
There's much more to living than we can consider
Bm                  A                  G                  D (Walk down)
I'd rather be an honest failure that meant to treat you right...
